- Patch Notes - 16-01-23
 - Death Costs
 - A Phoenix necklace will no longer reset the cooldown and effect of the Ring of Death.
 - The Ring of Death's 'Return to Life' passive no longer prevents player from looting boss corpses and chests after the fight.
 - Master Quest Cape
 - The teleports from the Master Quest Cape can now be accessed from the regular Quest Point Cape as well.
 - [add other MQPC notes]
 - General
 - Nex: Angel of Death Chest drop rate has been improved from 5,000 down to 1024, per chest. Chests will now drop in order, with any 'gaps' unlocked before being randomised there after.
 - Bow of the Last Guardian's auto attack damage is now correctly calculated. Dev Comment : All weapons of the same level should have equal damage values, meaning that DPM is the same regardless of style. The Bow of the Last Guardian was set up incorrectly so the bow itself was doing all of the damage of a level 95 weapon, and then the damage from the arrows was being added on top for even more! This bug was limited to auto-attacks, so for those of you who have been using abilities you should notice minimal difference overall. - Mod Daze
 - All graphics settings now have a tooltip explaining what the options do.
 - Combined Catalyst fragments can now be used to cure diseased herbs in Herblore Habitat.
 - Compost can now be applied to any growing patch.
 - Aurora variants of Power armours can now be upgraded.
 - Players can enter the Cooking Guild with any of the following capes: Trimmed Inverted Cooking Cape, Inverted Cooking Cape, Inverted Master Cooking Cape, Cooking Cape.
 - Portable skilling locations can no longer be placed on top of Crux Equal Knights.
 - Players won't receive 'Nothing' as a slayer task anymore.
 - You can now feed Aurora dyed items to the baby troll.
 - Flame Gloves can now be stored in your Keepsake inventory, with a copy being placed into your regular inventory. Upon removing the item from keepsake, the copy gets destroyed.
 - All 'of speak' Amulets can now be stored in your Keepsake inventory. Again, a copy will be created that gets destroyed when the original item is taken out of your Keepsake storage.
 - Added in boss tactics for Zamorak, Lord of Chaos.
